“a special kind”

---

“Say, Chara?”

Yeah?

Frisk had been watching the VHS tapes for a while now and just finished the last one that could be found in the true lab.

“You truly are a special kind of stupid, aren’t you?”

Haaaaaah?! Chara’s face turned several shades of red. I-I don’t what to hear that from someone who laughs at bad puns!!!

“Don’t change the subject with me. Poisoning yourself with flowers, really? How stupid can you get?”

I just wanted to free my family, okay?!?!

“By killing yourself, riiiiight. You couldn’t even know what would happen if a monster soul absorbs a human soul.”

Well, if no one knew, it had to be something great, right?

“...” Everything made perfect sense now. Foolish, silly and recklessly stupid Chara. “I can’t believe Asriel agreed with the plan...”

I was just very convincing.

“You bullied him into agreeing.”

Same difference.

Frisk sighed. “And that was your so-called plan? Get yourself killed, let Asriel absorb your soul and then...?”

Get the human souls and free the underground, silly.

“You really thought Asriel would kill someone?”

That’s exactly why I took over, jeez.

“Real genius. Glad to see your plan was foolproof.”

Ex-fucking-cuse me?!

“Can’t believe I have to clean up your mess now...” Ah, Fisk’s neutral look of displeasure, a real classic.
“Chara, you are so in a lot of trouble once I get you a new body.”

That’s impossible and you know it.

“Oh believe me, I am going to make this happen.”

After all, they only had a couple of resets left.
